My dear Sir:

Mr. Emil Fuchs, the eminent artist, has designed a medal for this Institute. The designs of this medal have been made by the Medallie Art Company.

A dispute now exists between the Medal Committee and Mr. Fuchs on one hand and Mr. Weil of the Medallie Art Company on the other hand as to the accuracy of reproduction of the design in the die. Messrs. Fuchs and Weil desire that we obtain your opinion. I have the plaster models, the die, a medal struck from the die, and various medals for comparison. These gentlemen said they thought you would be willing to give us your opinion on the character of the work. I can put all these things in a taxicab if you would like to have me, or they will be available for you here if you would be in the neighborhood in the near future. I will telephone you on your return to learn whether you would be willing to give us your opinion and what would be the most convenient way for you.

Very truly yours,

Bradley Stoughton
